*I'm going to tell you something
 I hope you'll never have to know
 I'll tell you how a heart can break
 And tears can constant flow
 I lost my baby boy you see,
 An angel in my eyes
 God chose to take his hand one day
 And led him to the skies
 But please do not forget my child
 He was a person too
 And forever he will live
 Inside of me and you
 So, please don't ever tell me
 That time will heal my pain
 Because not even time
 Can bring him back again
 Just tell me he is happy
 In that land way up above
 He's snuggled in an angels wings
 All wrapped in Mommy's love*

Ethan's Memorial Card

Monument in the baby section where Ethan is buried

I wrote this for my little sleeping angel.

Heidi (Chases Mom)

Thinking of you.

April 24, 2008

I just wanted you to know I was thinking of you and your family. It is a pain that no mother should have to go through. I wouldn't wish this pain on anyone. He was your hopes and dreams. He was a person. Just because he passed away does not mean that your dreams for him and love for him passes away... It is always there. I know besides losing a child one of the biggest hurts are people who we thought would "get it" really don't. They don't want to see you hurting so they suggest all sorts of things for you. My advice do what feels right for you. You carried him for over 5 months.

I hope it is okay to share this poem on here with you, I think it sums it up:

What Makes A Mother?

-Anonymous*

I thought of you and closed my eyes
And prayed to God today
I asked "What makes a Mother?"
And I know I heard Him say.

"A Mother has a baby"
This we know is true
"But God can you be a Mother,
When your baby's not with you?"

"Yes, you can," He replied
With confidence in His voice
"I give many women babies,
When they leave is not their choice.

Some I send for a lifetime,
And others for the day.
And some I send to feel your womb,
But there's no need to stay."

"I just don't understand this God
I want my baby to be here."
He took a deep breath and cleared His throat,
And then I saw the tear.

"I wish I could show you,
What your child is doing today.
If you could see your child's smile,
With all the other children and say...

'We go to Earth to learn our lessons,
Of love and life and fear.
My Mommy loved me oh so much,
I got to come strait here.

I feel so lucky to have a Mom,
Who had so much love for me.
I learned my lessons very quickly,
My Mommy set me free.

I miss my Mommy oh so much,
But I visit her every day.
When she goes to sleep,
On her pillow's where I lay

I stroke her hair and kiss her cheek,
And whisper in her ear.
Mommy don't be sad today,
I'm your baby and I'm here.'

"So you see my dear sweet ones,
your children are okay.
Your babies are born here in My home,
And this is where they'll stay.

They'll wait for you with Me,
Until your lesson's through.
And on the day that you come home they'll be at the gates for you.

So now you see what makes a Mother,
It's the feeling in your heart it's the love you had so much of Right from the very start

Though some on earth may not realize,
you are a Mother.
Until their time is done.
They'll be up here with Me one day and know that you are the best one!"

Ava's Mommy

Our babies

April 22, 2008

Just sending a note to let your family know you are not alone in everything that you are going through. Ava, like Ethan has older siblings that miss her so. I think this makes everyting 10 times harder because they too were waiting for there brothers arrival just as everyone else. The hardedst thing for me, was telling them there baby sister had died. It just broke my heart. I know one day we will be reunited with our babies, but that does not make our journey through life any easier. My heart goes out to your whole family, especially Ethan's brothers who have lost there baby brother. They say that time will heal, i don't really think it does. We will just learn how to deal with our loss, and still live our lives. May you all keep the memory of your baby boy alive. God Bless !

March 14, 2008

I am so sorry for your lose and there are no words to take your pain away but if you smile everyone will see your angel in your smile. i know my christopher is rocking your angel to sleep right now. my angel loved babies and even though he couldn't hold them while he was here I know he is making up for it now. I just know that God has made him the head honcho of the nursery up there. your angel has his wings wrapped tightly around you and all those who love him. I pray your love keeps you strong and know that you will see your angel again and will never have to let him go again. God bless you and those you love

I have tears coming down my face. How scary this must of been for you. I remember loosing my sweet Ashley but even more you carried him much longer then I did. Your so very brave and your little boy sounds so beautiful. I am pregnant now and scared to death of what could happen to my baby. Being pregnant after loss is the scariest experience.

I am praying for you and your family. May in time the healing become easier for the both of you. Take it one day at a time. Rest and know you are cared about.

Griselda, Joe, Daniel, Justin, and Jeromy,

I just went to Joey's website after we spoke on the phone. I am blown away by the love that is so evident for your precious son. You have all done such a beautiful job memorializing him. The pictures and the stone made by the boys had me in tears! I hope that we will meet in person soon. You are clearly a very special family.

Sincerely,

Mary

I will be praying for you at this time. My God bless you and your family.

Poem Of Joy

February 13, 2008

I am home in Heaven, dear ones;
Oh, so happy and so bright!
There is perfect joy and beauty
In this everlasting light.

He came Himself to take me.
I had Jesus' arms to hold me.
I am safely home in heaven.
Pray to trust our Father's Will.

So you must not grieve so sorely,
for I love you all dearly.
There is work still waiting for you.
When that work is all completed,
he will gently call you Home.
Oh, the rapture of that meeting,
Oh, the joy to see you come!

Precious Love

February 12, 2008

Joe, Miosy and children,

God Bless you all. We would like to give you our deepest sympathy's for Baby Joey. Every time I sit still and think of what you all recently had to endure, my heart cries. But there is a feeling within me that carries tears of Joy knowing wholeheartedly that Baby Joey is in the Best care ever imagined, with our Lord. I love you for being each others strength and support during this really tough time...For sticking together and making it a little easier for one another to get through each moment of each day. Baby Joey is a beautiful sweet angel, so precious and so pure...He is God's Precious Love and your Precious Angel. ❤️

Stay strong for one another. We will keep you in prayer.

In His Love,

Family of Ethan,

I'm sorry for your lost, everybody grieves differently. The only advise I can give you is to keep Jesus & your family close and that may help. It won't take the pain away, but having family around was better for me. I will keep you in my thoughts and prayers, cause I know it's not easy. He was a precious little guy, I know you will cherish the photos you have forever. God Bless you and your family.

Memories

all the gray you turned into colors...

Mom

Joey was diagnosed at 19 weeks with a rare benign tumor in his liver and an enlarged heart. We had the expectation that God would heal our Joey and we would share the miracle with others but God had another plan.

My most memorable moment is his birth. Once I gave birth to him, the room was so silent and the silence which probably was less than a minute felt like eternity. All I heard was my mom say "Oh, look how tiny he is".

The first thing I noticed was his full lips which stood out on his little face because it is a family trait on my side. He had one eye open as if wanting to peek at the face of his parents. Joe and I held Joey all night.

We clearly saw the area where his heart was and could clearly see that his heart could not work so hard anymore so his little heart failed.

He was the tiniest, peaceful, beautiful sleeping baby I ever saw. As I held him all night his face seem to relax and he looked so peacefully.

Joe and I dressed him into the clothes we bought him and wrapped him around his royal blue Mets blanket.

He came so silently into the world and left so silently.

I miss him so much....

2-12-08

In reading and sharing other testimonies of parents of stillborn children I can honestly say that God truly gave Ethan a peaceful birth. My doctor told me that his birth was beautiful: he perfectly came out of my womb and his placenta too. I guess as a witness to births she has seen the best and the worst.

I know in my heart that Ethan's heart stopped beating before Friday 2-1-08 because I did not feel his movement for several days but I didn't think anything of it because he spent a whole day one day without moving and we rushed to the hospital and he was perfectly fine.

My last ultrasound on Jan. 25 Joey was not his usual self which was bouncing all over the place and giving the technician a hard time. He was perfectly still but his heart was beating strong. The technician had to give him a hard budge to get him to move which he did. My body also started going into low fevers and sweating probably that Sunday which was every night as if my body was fighting something.

I know that Joey's appearance could have been different since his heart stop beatng and he remained in my womb for several days. Overall, Ethan looked great. He was so warm when I held him. My womb was his shelter.

Even my induced labor was not so physically painful but more emotionally painful than anything else. I was induced at 9am and my mom and husband stayed with me the entire time which I am thankful. I finally gave birth to Ethan at 4:16.

All we could do was just pray over Ethan and cry.

Since Joey was meant to depart from us and be with the Lord, I am ever so thankful that he passed peacefully in my womb. ❤️

I miss you

January 4, 2008

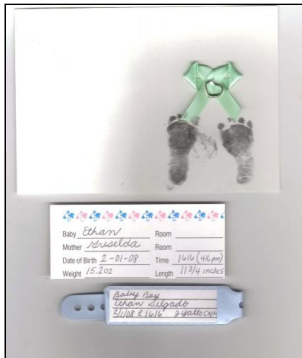

This is Joey at 19 weeks the day the doctor told us Joey's heart was enlarged. 😞

January 17, 2008

This was the last picture we got of Joey at 21 weeks. You can see his enlarged heart and the mass on his liver.

February 1, 2008

Joey was born peacefully sleeping at 24 weeks.

- He weighed 15.2 oz
- 11.75 inches long
